The 3-Cent Stamp.

Good bye, old stamp, it's nasty luck

That ends our friendship so.

When others failed, you gamely stuck,

But now you've got to go.

So here's a flood of honest tears,

And here's an honest sigh—

Good-bye, old friend of many years—

Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

Your life has been a varied one,

With curious phrases fraught—

Sometimes a cheer, sometimes a dun,

You daily coming brought;

Smiles to a waiting lover's face,

Tears to a mother's eye,

Or joy or pain to every place—

Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

You bravely toiled, and better men

Will vouch for what I say:

Although you have been lied, 'twas then

Your face turned rosy way.

'Two often in a box got

(As you will not deny)—

For going through the mails, I wot—

Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

Ah, in your last expiring breath

The tale of years is heard—

The sound of voices hushed in death

A mother's dying word,

A maiden's answer, soft and sweet,

A wife's regretful sigh,

The patter of a baby's feet—

Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

What wonder, then, that at this time

When you and I must part,

I should aspire to speak in rhyme

The promptings of my heart.

Go, hide with all those memories dear

That live when others die—

You've nobly served your purpose here—

Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is ple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but

Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! That's remarkable!

I will go this day and get some for ## Whom Shall We Nominate.

On the 4th of March, 1885, the Republican party will have been in power twenty-four consecutive years.

No other political organization ever enjoyed unbroken possession of the government so long. The Democratic tenure, which, beginning in 1829, ended in 1861, was interrupted by the election of Harrison, in 1840, and of Taylor, in 1848. The feeling, therefore, that the time has come for an overthrowing of the accounts, to which a change of parties is indispensable, is as natural as it is general, and unless some unforeseen disaster befall the Democratic party between this and the Presidential election, the next President will be a Democrat.

A prize so great and a prospect so promising raises up on the one hand the very gravest responsibilities, and on the other hand the very greatest dangers. Those who, large or small, shall have in any wise the shaping of the act cannot be too careful how they act or what they say. In particular should Democrats guard themselves against too personal references. Among the dangers, that of conflicting aspirations is by no means the least to be anticipated and feared. Personally it is a matter of little moment who is nominated for President so he be capable, reliable and honest. At this moment three

Business Announcement.

Believing that the people of Christian and surrounding counties desire the news often than once a week, we have determined to satisfy the demands of the public and issue two papers a week. Therefore we take pleasure in announcing that the first number of the SEMI-WEEKLY SOUTH KENTUCKIAN will appear next Tuesday and be issued thereafter every Tuesday and Friday morning. The new paper will be a seven column sheet and will be published at the exceedingly low price of $2.00 per annum, being an increase of only 50 cents for the additional paper. There will be no weekly as heretofore, but the two papers a week will be published at the same price charged by many weeklies. Our advertising rates will be increased 50 per cent and we will give two insertions for the same price charged by some weeklies, (of far less value as advertising mediums), for a single insertion. These advantages which we offer to both subscribers and advertisers cannot be overlooked, but must be palpable to all. Subscriptions beginning prior to Sept. 1, 1883, will be filled out with the semi-weekly for the price paid for the weekly, which our readers can readily see is an exceedingly liberal offer. Those persons who subscribed within the last 60 days, or since September 1, will receive the paper in its new form ten months instead of one year from the time their subscription began. By this arrangement all subscriptions beginning in October will expire in August and those beginning in September will run out in July. It will be seen that we shorten the time of no subscriptions which began more than two months ago, but as the September and October subscribers have nearly a year to run it is but fair that they should "split the difference" between the weekly and semi-weekly rates with us. If any subscriber thinks this is not a perfectly fair arrangement, and will apply to us, we will adjust the matter with him upon his own terms. Remember we submit this to our patrons, as a business proposition, asking all, but compelling none, to accept it. Those who are unwilling to do so have but to mention it and we guarantee to satisfy the most exacting. In addition to publishing two papers for the price of one, we will offer a list of premiums aggregating in value $500. The capital prize will be an elegant upright organ worth $300 and none of the prizes will be worth less than $1.00. There will be fifty or more prizes, an announcement of which will be ready by next week. Every subscriber beginning on and after Nov. 1, 1883, will be given a ticket.

The full official returns of the Ohio election are as follows: For Governor, Hoadley, 359,593. Foraker, 317,064; Shumaker, 8,361; Jenkins, 3,785; total vote 721,464, or within less than 3,000 votes of the largest vote ever polled in the State. Hoadley's plurality 12,529; majority over all 1,393. The Judicial amendment was carried by a majority of 33,413. The liquor prohibition amendment fell short of a majority by 38,245.

Lord Coleridge, Chief Justice of England, was invited to a seat on the U. S. Supreme Bench last week, the first instance where any one besides a Supreme Justice has ever occupied a seat on the Supreme Bench. He was given a banquet by Chief Justice Waite during his stay in the Capital, where he met a number of the distinguished statesmen and jurists of the United States.

"Boys sick to the farm" is the leading editorial in the last number of the Danville Tribune. No doubt he would have had the Ohio boys stick to a four-acre farm, but his advice comes too late, alas! too late. The Tribune man is an ex-Ohio Republican and sorrowfully admits that his native state has been carried by the "Democrats and Demijohns".

The Kentucky Register calls Wallace Gruelle "a gawdawed fellow who runs a vermifuge wrapper in Breckinridge county" and says he is "base villian" when he says Jno. H. Morgan was killed "while acting the part of a libertine." Won't Gruelle skin Tipton though, if he finds out what he has written about him?

A petition bearing more than 900,000 names has been presented to the President asking the pardon of Sergeant Mason, who is serving out an 8 years term for attempting to shoot Guiteau.

Capt. Mayne Reid, the London novelist, died on the 21st inst., in his 65th year.

Our Next President.

It is now but a few months till the Presidential nominations must be made and both parties are beginning to get their forces in battle array and the newspapers are busy making tickets on paper. The Democrats have plenty of good material all around, but it is pretty generally understood that their candidate must come from Indiana or Ohio. The Courier-Journal favors McDonald and the New York Sun is working for Congressman Holman of Indiana. The recent victory in Ohio has directed attention to that State and caused Hoadley, Thurman and Pendleton, to be put into the list of available candidates. At this time, however, it seems evident that an Indiana man—either McDonald or Holman—has by far the best chance. If we were to venture a prediction, we would say the ticket will be headed by one of these two Indiana Statesmen with Cleveland, Dorsheimer, Hewitt, or Cox, of New York, as a second and any one of these combinations would be a winning hand. But should New York go Republican next month, these calculations will be in a measure upset and Ohio will be looked to for one of the candidates and a good one can be easily found for either end of the ticket. The Republicans are in a very disheartened and discouraged situation, to say the least of it. With Democratic Governors in 26 out of 38 states, as the result of last year's tidal wave, they have very few directions in which to look with any hope of finding available candidates. Added to their overwhelming defeats all along the line they are torn and rent asunder in their own ranks. It is said that there will be an effort made by the Stalwarts to nominate Grant as their only hope, but the Half-breeds would vote for a Democrat before they would Grant and thus the matter stands. Arthur and Foster was a favorite ticket before the Ohio election, but they don't count much on Foster now and the probabilities are that they will have to count still less on Arthur after the New York election Nov. 6th. Things may change but it now looks like W. T. Sherman would be their best candidate, but we don't suppose they would take a Democrat's advice in making their nomination.

The new paper which will make its appearance in Henderson, Dec. 15, will be called the Weekly Journal. Malcolm Yeaman will be editor, E. L. Starling, local editor and C. H. Johnson, business manager.

The Princeton Banner says the "engineering corpse" of the Clarksville and Princeton road reached Princeton last week. "Corpse" is suggestive, as a business proposition, asking all, but compelling none, to accept it. Those who are unwilling to do so have but to mention it and we guarantee to satisfy the most exacting. In addition to publishing two papers for the price of one, we will offer a list of premiums aggregating in value $500. The capital prize will be an elegant upright organ worth $300 and none of the prizes will be worth less than $1.00. There will be fifty or more prizes, an announcement of which will be ready by next week. Every subscriber beginning on and after Nov. 1, 1883, will be given a ticket.

The election in New York and other states will occur next Tuesday. The first issue of our semi-weekly will appear the same day.

The Nashville Daily World, the leading paper of Tennessee, has resumed the quarto form and donned a new dress.

McLean's patent medicine Laboratory, and other houses, were burned in St. Louis last week and $250,000 worth of property destroyed.

The Louisville Commercial denounces as false the statement that it would shortly become a Democratic organ with a Lexington lawyer as managing editor.

John Sherman and other prominent Republicans have given up all hope of victory in New York, next Tuesday.

The President has issued a proclamation designating Thursday Nov. 29, as a day of Thanksgiving.

Several Louisville gentlemen have presented the President with a fishing-rod to match the reel given him when he was in that city.

Hon. Jos. E. McDonald was in Louisville last week and the Courier Journal referred to him as "the next President of the United States."

20,000 school children visited the Louisville Exposition in one day last week.

A tramp at Kent, Ohio, jumped headforemost into a retort filled with molten glass, in order to commit suicide. He succeeded.

Chief Reclining Taurus it is said has been seized with a desire to get rich. Shake, Dig Injin, shake.

The father of Charlie Ross is still hunting for his lost boy. He was in St. Louis last week prosecuting his fruitless search.

The Hickman Courier has recently been improved a hundred per cent in appearance by a new dress.

The Owensboro Post has suspended publication and the Messenger now has no competition.

An incendiary fire at Franklin was discovered in time to be put out before it got under headway. It was extinguished by G. J. Huston and the owners of the surrounding buildings presented him with a fine gold watch.

LETTER FROM FRANKFORT.

FRANKFORT, OCT. 26.

EDITOR SOUTH KENTUCKIAN: I am sure you have never seen Mr. Frederick Warde on the stage, and I therefore take the liberty of correcting an erroneous impression created by a reference to him in your last issue. You refer to him as being inferior to Keene. I cannot recall your language, but that is the purport of it. Keene, who makes a disgusting clown of subtle, many-sided Richard III, is not worthy to be mentioned in connection with the name of Frederick Warde. The latter, my friend, is one of the foremost actors on the American stage. He is an artist, and, as such, ranks second only to Booth and Barrett. This is the public estimate of him. My individual opinion of him is, that he has as much genius as Booth, and is second to him only, and that because of his comparative youth. This, you will no doubt think is a pretty loud compliment, but any writer who speaks adequately of Fred. Warde's powers as an actor subjects himself, among those who have never seen Warde, to the charge of indulgence in panegyric. I can only say to the good people of Hopkinsville, wait and see—but do not fail to see—the great Warde.

Now that I have lectured you on your treatment of Warde, you will probably expect me to "branch out" and send you a letter from the Capital, but there is really very little to write about, and even if items were as numerous and self assertive as Democrats in Ohio, I would scarcely have time to-night to write headlines to the chapter of events.

Mr. Justice Harlan's recent masquerade on the Supreme Court Bench, in the horrid Republican habiliments of 65-66, has elicited much comment, of a very unfavorable character, here at his old home. There was formerly nothing but kind feeling for him, but a great change in public sentiment has taken place since his dissent to the opinion of the Court in the Civil Rights cases. His old neighbor: seem to think that if elevation to such a judicial station has not caused the blinding scales of political prejudice to fall from his eyes, he is unworthy to wear the ermine. A judge of a court of last resort, who is called on to interpret the Constitution of his country and to define its limitations, and who indulges in namby-pamby slush about what he thought "the people of this country wished to accomplish, what they had believed they had accomplished by means of legislation," is either given over to partisan blindness or to the petulance of discomfited imbecility.

Of all the attempted invasions upon the Constitution, made by a party alike reckless and resentful, the Civil Rights Bill stands flagrantly supreme, yet Mr. Justice Harlan, in effect, says it should be enforced, not because it is constitutional, but because a Republican Congress passed it and desired to have it enforced. Shades of Marshall and Taney and Chase!

I would like to give you some impressions of Gov. Knott's administration, but the subject is altogether too important and pleasant to be treated currente calamo, and I must forbear until a more favorable opportunity is presented.

S. M. G.
Near Church Hill

Jack Frost is no longer dreaded. Our farmers with characteristic energy and industry have made ready for his coming and he will find but little to injure, most of the tobacco has been housed, and many are busy sowing wheat.

Mr. Garland Jones, a prosperous popular planter from near Roaring Springs, was in the neighborhood last Saturday in search of a desirable farm. If suited he will locate permanently. No doubt he has heard in the distance the pleasant sound of the rapidly approaching locomotive and desires to be in time to secure a home near the new railroad.

Mr. Geo. Knight and wife from the South of England, who have recently been visiting Mr. John Knight of this neighborhood, left last Monday for Chattanooga. Mr. Knight has come to America with the intention of making it his home. He will buy property in this country.

Mr. John Ford, of this vicinity, left on the 15th for an extended tour through the Eastern and Northern cities.

Mrs. Mollie Hewell, a pleasant and intelligent young lady from Lafayette, is visiting friends in the neighborhood and attending the protracted meeting at Liberty.

On Oct. 22d a protracted meeting will begin at Locust Grove, conducted by Dr. Hearn, an eminent Baptist minister said to be eloquent, earnest and exceedingly interesting.

Mr. John Johnson with characteristic energy and enterprise has commenced the erection of a new residence on his farm which will be ready for occupancy in a month or six weeks.

The many friends of Mrs. Geo. Fox will be pained to hear of her death, which occurred at her late residence in this county on Monday morning Oct. 15th, twenty minutes past one o'clock. She was a good and noble hearted woman, and one that will be greatly missed. She leaves a large circle of relatives and friends who have the warmest sympathy of all who knew and loved Mrs. Fox.

The "melancholy days" so called if we judge from the continued warm weather have not yet reached us but in my pleasant walks thro' the woods, the glimmer of sunset and gold, and the soft sighing of the winds suggests freshness with the advent of that prolific season, and never fails to bring down the united voice of the Press upon the devoted heads of those who have literary aspirations and whose little lyrics, idylls and pastorals despite it all—find their way into the papers.—I know this is not Spring, and your correspondent never took kindly to that season, the eastern breezes were always fraught with a thousand little neuralgic pains, that made its sunshine often gloomy and the song of its birds a nuisance,—but the Autumn is full of unwritten music and voices, that stir up the latent poetry in one's composition and somehow in my imagination takes this form—(If an Autumn "rhyme" is allowable and not consurable.)

There's a dreamy hum in the woodland
That filleth the soft autumn air
A flutter of leaves falling downward,
With voices that seem to declare
That the glory of summer has faded
The autumn is to us no fair,
The sweetest hush of its music
In rhythms I hear everywhere.

The wild woods the winds and the branches
Seem sadly to whisper and sigh
Like the rush of a low wailing autumn
Borne out on a breeze passing by
The elms and the maple trees mingle
In a song that is soft, low and lone
And the thrush in its call from the woodland
Breaths sadly of happiness down.

Down in the meadow the brooklet
Leaps on its rocky base,
And the sun in his golden glory
Peers down in its laughing face,
And the insect hives with the brown leaves
Chirp out in its shrilled glee,
As if in this concert nature
It would fain add its minstrelsy

The flower leans down to flower
The ferns quiver on the stream,
And the earth in its autumn beauty
Wears a gleam of its gleam
For the falling leaf is falling
And its shimmer of russet and gold
We shall see no more in the woodland
In upland or lowland, or wold.

But here in the dreamy autumn
Beneath the deep blue sky,
I have listened to nature's music
Whose pages narrated in
And the grandest strain in the melody
Rings out in a glad refrain
Though we like the leaves must perish
We'll live in a spring time again.

These tickets will be on sale every day, from L. & N. stations and will be good 15 days, allowing ample time to visit the Greatest Exposition ever held in the South, and second only to the Centennial at Philadelphia.

The Madisonville Fair.

The first annual Fair at Madisonville last week, beginning Wednesday and continuing four days, was a success despite the inclemency of the weather. Only about ten weeks had elapsed since the project was put on foot, but in that brief time grounds were purchased, buildings put up and an interesting programme arranged, which was carried out to the satisfaction of all concerned. On Friday the attendance probably reached 3,000, although it was so cold and damp that heavy wraps were worn and log fires were kept burning for the shivering people to warm by. On Saturday the morning was very inclement. A cold, blustering rain, interspersed with a disagreeable drizzle, kept the streets in a "flood" and prevented numbers from attending. In spite of these drawbacks the crowd was very large. People came in from the surrounding country on horseback and in wagons and other vehicles and seemed to pay no attention whatever to the weather. We did not go to the fair on Saturday, but from what we learned the crowd was even larger than on the preceding day. Enough money was realized to pay the company out of debt and put them on a money making basis, which was doing remarkably well for the first year. The success was due in a great measure to the indefatigable efforts of the efficient president and secretary, Messrs. Polk Laffoon and J. Fletcher Dempsey. To the latter we are indebted for special courtesies. During his stay of two days in Madisonville, the writer and his wife enjoyed the whole-souled hospitality of Mr. Zeno F. Young and his most estimable young wife. They spared no pains to make our stay pleasant and enjoyable, and it is useless to say they succeeded. We sincerely appreciate the special courtesies and attentions shown us by our brother quill-driver and his better two-thirds. Both the Times and Gleaner issued cautions during the Fair.

HERE AND THERE.

W. F. Patton, Life Insurance.

Another case of small-pox has made its appearance in Clarksville.

A new pavement has been laid in front of the Thompson block on Main street.

New crossings have been laid across Main street on each side of Nashville street.

Virginia street is being raised about two feet, in the flat in front of Smith's livery stable.

A branch sewer intersecting the big one, has been run across Nashville street to Ballard's corner.

We are indebted to Jas. Doyle, formerly of this city, for a copy of the Pueblo, Col. Chieftain.

The Fred Warde Company will stop at Mrs. Burbridge's boarding house, near the depot.

We will give 50 instead of 32 cents a week in the future and will increase our subscription rate but 50 cents.

104 papers for $2.00! They are worth that much for waste-paper, to say nothing of the news they will contain.

Local advertising rates will remain as heretofore—Special Locals ten cents per line and personal locals twenty cents per line for each insertion.

All premiums not called for by next Monday, the 5th of November, will be forfeited. The 30 days allowed for delivering them will expire on that date.

Mr. Jas. Brown, of Cincinnati, has bought out Mr. Isaac Hart's dry goods establishment on Main street, and will continue the business at the same stand. He is an experienced and reliable merchant, and we welcome him to our city.

Geo. O. Thompson has moved into one of the spacious store rooms in his new block on Main St. Don't fail to call on him and see his large and handsome stock of furniture which is being sold at astonishingly low prices.

Messrs. Cabanis & Dickinson, of Trenton, Ky., had their drug store broken open last week by some unknown parties. The cash drawer was robbed of its contents and a few valuables taken from the store, but we were unable to learn the exact loss.—Clarksville Democrat

The Ohio River Association, composed of sixteen churches that took letters from Little River Baptist Association, at its recent meeting, was organized at Crooked Creek church, Crittenden county, a week or two ago, with Rev. J. W. Crowder as Moderator and Rev. C. S. Miller as Clerk.

The infant son of Mr. W. E. Foulks of this city, represents the fifth generation. His mother, Mrs. Fannie Coleman Foulks, his grandmother, Mrs. Emma Coleman, his great-grandmother, Mrs. Fannie Gowan, and his great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Ellis, are all living in this city.

The best selection and most complete stock of hardware ever brought to this city, can be seen at Chas. A. Thompson's, in his new store, in No. 3 Thompson Block, where he has moved and will continue business in the future. Any one in need of hardware, queensware, glass ware, wall paper, etc., will do well to call on him.

The Madisonville Fair Company, refused to sell privileges to the helionous men, although they offered them $1,000 for the privilege to operate inside the Fair grounds. They set up their tables somewhere in the town to run them at night, but they were promptly "pulled" by the police.

Mr. John Roschlein and wife, a young couple of Chicago, arrived last Saturday, to enter into house service at Church Hill, Ky. Rev. F. L. Braun, Lutheran pastor, took care of this family. A number of other families want to come here from the North, if similar positions can be found. Apply to Mr. Braun or Mr. A. V. Townes.

The turnpike on the Cadiz road is nearly done. It is a little over the usual width, with a dirt road thrown up to a level on one side. The toll gate was put in operation on the 14th inst. The pike is four miles in length. The penny system has been adopted, and the rate for a single buggy going and returning is 13 cents. The rate for equestrians is 3 cents each way.

At the recent meeting of the Grand chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Kentucky, at Louisville, Dr. R. M. Fairleigh and Judge J. I. Landes, of this city, were chosen respectively to the position of Grand High Priest and Grand Captain of the Host, the first by election, the second by appointment. We congratulate these gentlemen upon the well deserved honors they have received.

Hereafter we will have to edit two papers a week and will consequently have much more office work than heretofore and less time to look up items of local news. In view of this fact we hope our friends will kindly communicate to us any items of news they may be in possession of. If you have a visitor, or know of an absence, or find out any item of news, you will confer a favor upon us by giving us the benefit of your information. Send a note, drop a postal card, or tell us about it and we will appreciate the favor. If our friends do not co-operate with us in collecting the news, they must not expect us to chronicle every social item, as we are neither ubiquitous nor omniscient.

MARRIED.

DOWNER—PETREE: At the residence of the bride's father, Judge R. T. Petree, Tuesday, Oct. 23, 1883, by Rev. T. G. Keen, of the Baptist church, Mr. J. W. Downer to Miss Mollie Petree.

Only a limited number of intimate friends and relatives were present. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal couple took the 3:13 p. m. train for St. Louis and other cities. Mr. Downer is a prominent young lawyer of the H. Hopkinsville bar and City Attorney of the city. The bride is one of the most popular and universally esteemed young ladies in Hopkinsville society. They returned home Saturday and will board at Judge Petree's.

PHILIPS—WESTON: At the residence of Mr. W. Phillips near this city, Thursday, Oct. 25, 1883, by Rev. T. G. Keen, Mr. James Phillips to Miss Carrie Weston. Mr. Phillips is connected with the Central Warehouse of this city and is a young gentleman of worth and character. We extend to him our congratulations. He will occupy the cottage adjoining Mr. W. T. Tandy's, on Main street.

METCALFE—MCKINSTRY: At the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. Geo. O. Thompson, Wednesday, Oct. 24, 1883, at 6 o'clock, A. M., Mr. Chas. W. Metcalfe to Miss Lillie McKinstry. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. G. Keen, of the Baptist church. The wedding was very quiet, only a few friends present. After the ceremony Mr. Metcalfe and his bride left on the 7 o'clock, A. M., train for the eastern cities. They will visit New York, Chicago and other points of interest.

Mr. Metcalfe is the senior member of the enterprising firm of Metcalfe & Bro., of this city; he is one of the leading business men of the city and a young man of moral worth and strict integrity and is popular wherever he is known. No citizen of Hopkinsville possesses more energy, enterprise and business capacity than Charlie Metcalfe. Starting into business a few years ago, while a mere boy, with a small fruit stand he has gradually increased his business until he is one of the most extensive implement dealers in western Kentucky, having sold out his mammoth confectionery establishment this year to embark exclusively in the implement business. His bride is a young lady well known in Hopkinsville society. Winning in manners, amiable and cultured and a favorite wherever known, she will make him a good and loving wife, as he deserves. That they may always be happy in each other's love, and that success may attend them through life is our wish. They will be absent for several days and will upon their return take rooms and board at Mr. Geo. O. Thompson's on Russellville street.

CAULDE—BAKER: At West Union Baptist Church, Bellevue Ky., Thursday, Oct. 25, 1883, at 6 o'clock P. M., by Rev. A. W. Meacham, Mr. Emmett Caudle to Miss Julia Baker, both of West Christian. The bridal party proceeded from the church to the residence of the groom's father, Mr. J. R. Caudle, of Newstead, where an elegant reception was given them.

The young couple represent two of the first families of the county, and the bride, who is a daughter of Mrs. Annie Baker, is a young lady of unusual beauty and loveliness of character. They have our heartiest congratulations.

BUCKNER—CLARK: At the Presbyterian church in Henderson, Ky., by Rev. J. H. McCulloch, Thursday, Oct. 25, 1883, Mr. Thos. W. Buckner, of this city to Miss Mamie A. Clark, of Henderson. They were attended by Mr. R. D. Vance with Miss Emma Hodge; Mr. F. W. Buckner with Miss Sallie Dixon; Mr. Robert Holway with Miss Cordie Vance; Mr. W. D. Baird with Miss Mamie Dixon.

The bridal couple left for the eastern cities on a bridal tour, and will return to this city this week. They will take rooms at Mr. S. G. Buckner's. The bridegroom is one of Hopkinsville's handsomest, cleverest and most popular young gentlemen, and the bride is one of Henderson's fairest flowers and a young lady who has frequently visited this city and is a favorite in Hopkinsville society. May they be superlatively happy, is our fervent wish.

Frederick Warde.

Mr. Frederick B. Warde, the eminent tragedian, will play three engagements here this week.

On Friday evening Nov. 2, Knowles' great tragedy "Virginius or the Roman Father" will be presented. This is one of Mr. Warde's greatest characters. The Detroit Free Press says him the following high compliment: "In all the aspects of the character he acts superbly—at times with overwhelming power and with absolute surrender to the passion that rends the stricken father's heart and tears reason from his throne. He expresses intense emotion and depicts the wild conflict of passions with unusual skill and effectiveness; and the more he is called upon to do in that direction the greater seems his power to do. His acting at no time gave to him the resources. The impersonation must be set down as singularly successful."

On Saturday evening, Nov. 3, Shakespeare's sublime tragedy, "Richard III., or the battle of Bosworth's Field," will be played. In the character of Richard III., Mr. Warde stands unrivaled.

The Baltimore Daily, of Oct. 10, '83, says: "Mr. Frederick Warde gave an interpretation of the role of the crook-backed tyrant, "Richard III.," at Ford's last night and won the warm approval of a large audience. His simulation of the various emotions, sorrow, love, religious fervor and vindictive hate, showed that he is an artist of very much more than ordinary ability and that his support is remarkably even and his plays are all presented with strict fidelity to detail and historical accurateness."

On Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock will be a grand family matinee at which time will be presented "Ingomar, the Barbarian."

Mr. Warde is unquestionably one of the finest actors on the American stage and our people should embrace the opportunity offered to see him in his greatest characters.

Scale of prices will be at the following exceedingly low rates: Reserved seats $1.00, gallery 50 cents. Matinee prices: Reserved seats, 75 cents, general admission 50 cents, gallery 25 cents. Box sheet for above performances open-to-day at 1 o'clock, at Gish & Garner's.

Last Friday Mr. Chas. D. Overshiner, a cousin of the proprietor of the CALICO PRINT, arrived at Daggett, from Los Angeles. About four months ago he came to California from his home in Hopkinsville, Christian county, Ky., where he was employed five years in the South Kentucky Printing office, and when he left received first class recommendations from his employers. He will fill the position as foreman in this office as long as he remains here, and it is hoped that the attractions of Los Angeles or the pleasures of his home in Ky. will not allure him back until he has found something of interest in this dreary desert, or at least has had his first unfavorable impression of the present surroundings considerably modified. He will prove a valuable addition to our small force, and render assistance which we have very much needed.—Calico Print. Calico Oct. 26.

Mrs. Geo. M. Fox, of the southern part of the county, died last week aged between 60 and 70 years. She was the relict of the late John Adams and was married to Mr. Fox last summer. She leaves a number of children, grand-children and great grand-children besides an extensive connection to mourn her loss.
